

One Step At A Time

You cannot make your way to the top of the mountain if you try to skip all of the steps in between. One step, one small step every day, a fall backwards, a stumble into a hole, it's all a part of the journey.

There may be some demons and monsters that you have to meet along the way. Don't run from them, you'll get stuck for a while. Get to know them, become friends with them and only then can you shake hands, say thanks for coming, fare thee well... then keep moving... one step at a time.
